Husafell | Thermal Pools

Begin your adventure with VIP admission to Reykjavik's Icelandic Lava Show, a unique indoor venue affording a safe way to encounter flowing lava up close. Then, head to coastal Hvalfjordur to bathe in the sea baths, natural pools where ocean water is warmed by geothermal energy. The brave may even plunge directly into the chilly waters of the fjord itself. At nearby Reykholt, visit a thermal bathing site dating back to Iceland's earliest Viking age. Continue toward the island's sparsely inhabited center, where after dinner, you set out in hope of sighting the northern lights.

Don a helmet and headlamp to delve into the lava tube of Vidgelmir, Iceland's largest volcanic cave. Then, embark on a thrilling snowmobile ride onto the colossal Langjokull ice cap. Descend into man-made tunnels carved deep into the glacier, exploring stages of glacial formation, blue-hued dens and even a chapel.

Thingvellir | Lava Fields, Geysers and Waterfalls

Today, visit Thingvellir National Park, a site of deep geological and historic significance. This rugged rift valley of lava fields straddles a division of the North American and Eurasian continental plates. Translating to "Assembly Plains," Thingvellir also marks the site where the Vikings established the world's first democratic parliament more than 1,000 years ago. After exploring the park, continue to Fridheimar, a geothermally heated organic greenhouse, for a tour and freshly prepared lunch. Next, visit the regularly erupting Strokkur Geyser and stunning Gullfoss, where milky green glacial water plummets down Iceland's most famous waterfall. Tonight, check in to your luxury retreat nestled in the wild Icelandic countryside, another prime location for viewing the northern lights.
